

Paving Operations Begin On Highway 94

PACKING IT DOWN: Operator Dick Williams of the Daley Corporation maneuvers two huge rollers over the poured asphalt in one of the major phases of the paving process being conducted on Highway 94. The re-alignment of the highway will be conducted in stages, with the next expected in three to five years.

Phase One Of Proposed Realignment

Paving operations began this week on the new mile and a quarter strip of Highway 94 to begin at about 100 yards in front of Bancroft dr., and extend to Kenwood dr.

The Daley Corporation of San Diego is the contrasting agent on the project according to Allen Wrenn, resident engineer for the California Department of Public Works, Division of Highways.

"We were scheduled to begin the paving operation about two weeks ago, but the Daley firm was still in the process of completing work on Interstate 8," commented Wrenn.

The resident engineer explained that the work, which began on Monday, should be completed in about a month. The Highway is a realignment project, the first in a series of such programs. Within three to five years another extension will begin to expand the highway out to Avocado blvd. Long range expectations envision a further extension to the Jamacha junction.

COMBINED EFFORT: Three pieces of equipment from the Daley Corporation of San Diego combine efforts as the paving process began on the new re-alignment of Highway 94 between Bancroft dr. and Kenwood dr. Paving operations began Monday and are expected to continue for a month.

'One Man, One Vote, One Buck'

The Men's Magazine, TRUE, has an editorial piece about us this month.

On page 19 of the August issue (your favorite newstand—50¢) it remarks about a perennial consideration this publication has for a unique nationwide lottery.

Under a heading "BUCK FOR A TICKET", TRUE magazine reports: "One dollar is a standard price for a lottery ticket in the U. S. That's the tag set by New York in its new state lottery. Governor Rockefeller and quite a few legislators were very cold to the lottery idea, but it's remarkable how the political conscience mellowed when there's money in the wind."

"After the law was passed, administrators stepped up the frequency of drawings to one a month and put the price at a buck so everybody can play and help public education. Unfortunately, New York and New Hampshire, the only states with lotteries, can't fill the national demand. Near to the ideal is the National Lottery described in his column a couple of years ago. The idea: players cut a dollar bill in two, keep one half with its serial number and mail the other half with the same serial number to Washington, where a responsible official — the Secretary of the Treasury — would be a good man — runs a weekly drawing. The winners take an instant tax bite from the winners, and losers get rid of wads of paper. The idea got a good response but the flurry died down. Now the originators of the idea, who hail from San Diego and Lemon Grove, California, think the idea is right for a new push."

Max Goodwin, editor and publisher of the LEMON GROVE REVIEW and SPRING VALLEY BULLETIN, recently gave the National Dollar Lottery a big editorial send-off.

We don't know whether he would organize a lottery lobby if enough people wrote to him, but organization is needed.

Meanwhile 48 of our states are discriminated against."

High School Point of View

One of our favorite high school teachers, an attractive, young, red-haired vixen, became engaged just before school was out for the summer.

At school, she taught English and had as an additional duty, the job of journalism counselor. In the latter chore, which was her favorite, she rode herd over a youthful group of boys and girls who edited the school newspaper.

Because of the rapport which exists among those in journalism, the teacher decided to confide in her newspaper staff the news of her engagement. She chose the end of one of the final classes to impart the information.

"I'm getting married in July," she said.

The newspaper's editor, a sharp, young lady with an inquiring mind, appeared more surprised than the others.

"What's so unusual about my getting married?" the teacher asked.

"We didn't even know you were pregnant," was the astounding reply.

Helix Irrigation District Registers Budget Increase

A five per cent raise for employees was one of the leading factors in a budget hike adopted by the Directors of the Helix Irrigation District last Thursday.

The Helix District, which supplies the water for the Lemon Grove-Spring Valley area, adopted a 1967-68 budget which is $292,967 higher than the previous year's total.

Harry Griffen, chairman of the board of directors, indicated that the budget hike would have no effect on the current district tax rate.

The pay increase will benefit some 115 district employees said Byron Miller, general manager of the district. He indicated that the budget increase is also due in part to a proposed $100,000 construction job and the higher costs of water, itself.

The water, which is mostly Colorado River water, will cost the district an estimated $758,000, while last year's water bill came to $615,000.

Miller noted that the pay increase will cost the district an estimated $49,000. The district has fewer workers now than it has ever had due to mechanization and the greater efficiency in operation.

The remainder of the budget increase will be used for the installation of water transmission lines by the Helix District in the Lake Jennings area.

Unification Tabbed For Spring Vote

Dr. John T. Warburton, superintendent of the Grossmont Union High School District announced Tuesday that a unification election for east county elementary schools districts may be conducted next spring.

The unification proposal, which was turned down by the voters last year, is being put forth again in an attempt to gain revenue to alleviate a worsening financial situation in the district.

Dr. Warburton emphasized that such a move would affect the salaries of the districts' teachers and would be the only possible way for the district to operate. He said that it would be impossible for the district to compete with other areas for teachers if the current financial situation remained.

Metropolitan Water District Knocks Central Arizona Bill

The Board of Directors of the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California unanimously adopted a resolution opposing a Central Arizona Project bill as being "essentially a parochial, rather than a regional, approach to the water problems of the Colorado River."

The legislation, Senate Bill 1004, which was introduced by Arizona's Sen. Carl Hayden, was approved recently by the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs of the Senate.

In its resolution, the Board cited several shortcomings in the bills:

- "It refuses to recognize that the Colorado River is in adequate to meet the demands of a new project while continuing to support long existing uses."

- "It diverts power revenues from Hoover, Parker and Davis dams, paid by water and power users from three states, to subsidize Central Arizona Project costs, rather than to augment the Colorado River's water supply so as to benefit the entire basin."

- "It abandons a realistic method of financing Colorado River water augmentation by refusing to authorize Hualapai Dam and power plant for the benefit of the entire basin."

The resolution also reaffirmed support of bills introduced by Sen. Thomas Kuchel and other Colorado River Basin legislators that would not authorize construction of the Central Arizona Project, but would include efforts toward augmenting the water supply of the Colorado.

Reagan Picks Henry Boney As Planner

Governor Ronald Reagan announced the appointment of Henry A. Boney, vice chairman of the County Board of Supervisors, to the State Planning Advisory Committee.

The eleven member committee advises the Governor on matters relating to planning and land use in California.

Boney, prominent in local Republican affairs, replaces another San Diego County Supervisor, De Graff Austin, as a member of the Advisory Committee. Austin, a Democrat, had been appointed to the committee by former Governor Edmund Brown.

Boney is the only San Diego man on the Planning Advisory Committee, he will serve an indefinite term and at the pleasure of the Governor.

Area Tuberculosis Head Says People Failing To Claim

The Social Security Administration believes many persons, under age 65, suffering from tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases are failing to claim disability benefits, according to Dr. Robert Rosen, Lemon Grove-Spring Valley area chairman of the Tuberculosis & Health Assn. of San Diego County.

A person is considered disabled if a physical or mental impairment prevents his doing any substantial gainful work in keeping with his age, education, and vocational experience.

Benefits are payable if the disability has lasted—or is expected to last—12 months or more or result in death, and they begin with the seventh full month of disability. They are in the same amount that retirement benefits would be if the individual were 65 years of age, and payments continue as long as the disability lasts or until retirement benefits start.

Some back benefits are payable if a claim is filed after recovery — but not more than 14 months after recovery.

All applicants are considered for vocational rehabilitation services. Several built-in incentives tend to stimulate rehabilitation efforts by Stricken individuals, Doctor Rosen said.

Disabled American Veterans Tab L.G. Man For Director

County Clerk Robert B. (Bud) James has been elected the first chairman of DAV Industries, an affiliate of San Diego Chapter 2 of Disabled American Veterans.

James, a resident of Point Loma, will head a nine-man board for one year. DAV Industries was recently organized as an independent, non-profit corporation to comply with new California laws governing charitable organizations.

Other officers elected are William G. Dwyer, of 5133 Tawley blvd., San Diego, vice chairman; Harry G. Aronoff, of 5550 Baja dr., San Diego, treasurer; Gilbert Harelson, of Mt. Helix, secretary.

Frank J. LesTina, of 732 Albion st., Point Loma; Albert A. Mese, 6235 Cresthaven dr., La Mesa; Ray Lange, 2931 Orange place, Lemon Grove; Dr. Loren Connor, Mt. Helix; and Richard Cosgriff, 7188 Colony rd., La Mesa, are directors. Cosgriff also is executive director of DAV Industries.

DAV Industries has worked in San Diego in rehabilitation of disabled veterans and their dependents since 1950. During the fiscal year that ended June 30, the organization employed 140 persons and paid $193,281 in wages from the sale of reconditioned clothing and furniture and packaging, cleaning and reclaiming of parts under contract to private companies, James said.

The corporation operates a DAV Thrift Store at 881 Broadway, Chula Vista, and is opening a second store at 1488 Market st., San Diego, James said.

"It is more obvious today than ever before that during this generation or the generation to come we are not going to be mercifully relieved of tragedies of combat, and that is why I personally welcome and am highly complimented by my election as chairman of the Board of Directors of DAV Industries," James said.

"The primary aim of our government in entering into conflict is to preserve the dignity of the individual. This program, carried on by the non-profit corporation provides gainful employment and mental occupational therapy and has for its whole purpose this exact goal. The success of the DAV rehabilitation program has for its foundation the very same fierce determination and spirit of independence that prompted its benefactors to fight for their country."

DAV Industries is operated as a non-profit corporation under the Board of Directors as appointed by directors of the local Disabled American Veterans chapter.

JUST LIKE DOWNTOWN — A two level parking facility is planned as part of the expansion program of the Lemon Grove First Baptist church. It is said to be the first such arrangement in the east county. Eventually, a church building will top the two levels of parking, according to the Rev. Robert Kleinschmidt, pastor. The development, at Main and Burnell in Lemon Grove, is part of an expansion program the local congregation underwrote earlier this year. Earlier this month a ground-breaking ceremony for a new sanctuary was held adjacent the site of the parking facility. Eventually church buildings will cover both sides of Burnell street fronting on Main.

Reverend DeVore Takes Over Twin Duties As L.G. First Congregational Minister

The Reverend Michael A. DeVore, newly ordained minister of the United Church of Christ, was presented to the congregation of the First Congregational Church, United Church of Christ, 2770 Glebe rd., Lemon Grove, at the worship last Sunday.

The presentation marked the beginning of his work as Associate Minister in charge of Christian Education in the Lemon Grove Church. Following the services, the congregation met to greet the Reverend and Mrs. DeVore at an informal reception with deacons of the church serving.

Sermon topic for the service was "The Mystery of the Obvious" with the Reverend Ernest M. Fowler, ministry as preacher and Reverend DeVore as liturgist.

Recently graduated from the Pacific School of Religion in Berkeley, California, Reverend DeVore is a native of Ames, Iowa. He spent most of his early life in Silver Springs, Maryland, and earned his Bachelor of Arts degree from La Fayette College, Easton, Pennsylvania. His wife, the former Carolee Clawson, was a resident of Perth Amboy, New Jersey, where they were married in 1961.

Reverend DeVore has served as minister to youth at the South Hayward United Church of Christ and as assistant pastor of the American Church in Tokyo, Japan, for a two year internship period. He recently took part in a special program of studying and evaluating the Christian Education curriculum of the United Church of Christ. The special area of this study was in the churches of the peninsula south of San Francisco.

In the Lemon Grove Church, Reverend DeVore will have the special responsibility for ministries to youth and Christian Education for all ages. According to the official announcement of the church, expanded ministries in several departments will be made possible by the addition of the second staff member.

Trinity Presbyterians Seek Asst. Minister

In the hope of broadening both Trinity Presbyterians Church's music and Christian Education program, a committee has been formed to seek the services of an assistant minister, who is qualified in these phases of the church's life.

"The person we are looking for should possess theological training in youth work as well as rich musical background, said the Rev. Dick Adams, pastor. He explained it is a big order, but there is encouragement due to the fact that several applications have been received and that more are expected.

The committee consists of Betty Ball, chairman; Heide Klein, Helen Lambert, Jack Klein, Lloyd Plummer, and Virginia Kitchen. They will interview and investigate candidates for the position which will bear the title of "Minister of Music and Christian Education."

Button Shoes' s Vintage Fun

The first musical of the summer season, "High Button Shoes" began its two-week run at Circle Arts theatre, Tuesday, starring Jan Murray and the glamorous blonde, Marilyn Maxwell.

It was the San Diego debut of "High Button Shoes," and it is a nostalgic show set in the early 1900's and overflows with a feelink of that period, with a model "T," college football, get-rich-quick schemes, the anglo, bathing beauties, and a hilarious meleé involving the Keystone Comedy Kops. It is a lively, exuberant vintage period musical, that leaves you humming such tunes as "Papa, Won't You Dance with Me" and "I Still Get Jealous."

"High Button Shoes" is under the direction of Ernest Saracino, and will play nightly, Tuesday through Saturday at 8:30 p.m. Sunday at 8 p.m. with Saturday and Sunday matinees at 2:30 p.m. until July 30th. Season tickets, with the 20% discount for the four musicals will continue to be on sale until Sunday, July 30th. Information office is 279-2121.

Club To See Birch Film

"Anarchy—U.S.A." a film showing sponsored by the John Birch Society, will be shown Friday at the regular meeting of the Lemon Grove Men's Club. The presentation will be made by Forrest Rogers.

The film will depict what happened in Cuba, China, and Algeria as the Communists moved in. It will also comment on the civil rights movement in the U.S., according to Norman Hutsell, the club's program chairman.

Lt. Governor Presented Manpower Plan

A just-completed California Cooperative Manpower Plan for the 12 months beginning July 1 was presented to Lt. Governor Robert H. Fitch and the new state Job Training and Placement Council, established last spring by Governor Ronald Reagan, at a meeting in Sacramento.

The plan, Director of Employment Peter Weinberger told the council, seeks to coordinate manpower development activities of local, state and federal agencies.

Weinberger said the report includes plans for each of seven large California labor market areas, and for virtually all other parts of the state, based on the "sensible coupling and linkage of the resources of the various agencies involved."

The local plans were endorsed by the California Manpower Coordinating Committee which is comprised of state representatives of signatory agencies on June 27.

Signatory agencies are those which administer manpower-related programs funded entirely or in part with federal money.

Participating state agencies are the Agricultural Training Advisory Committee; Division of Apprenticeship Standards; the departments of Education, Employment, Housing and Community Development; Rehabilitation and Social Welfare; and the California Office of Economic Opportunity.

Federal agencies are the departments of Commerce; Health Education and Welfare; Housing and Urban Development.

COMMENDATION — The Spring Valley Fire Department awarded a certificate of commendation to a San Diego man for assisting the Fire Department during a brush fire recently. The man, Thomas B. Rogers, center, used his bulldozer to help control a brush fire June 1. He had a construction job near the fire in the 8800 block of Ildica st. when the 10-acre fire blazed up wildly when the wind shifted. Without hesitation, Rogers volunteered himself and the bulldozer to cut a fire trail along the south slope of the hillside fire, allowing firemen to concentrate on the other three sides. Firemen said several homes were saved by Rogers' action.

In the photo are William Faulstich and Virgil Steffen, fire directors, Rogers, R. H. Allen, president of the board, and Stan Toiten, director.

In Spanish "la hora" may be used to mean "the hour" and "the time." If we say "A hora es la hora." (Now is the hour.), the word "hora" means "hour." If we say "Cual es la hora?" (What time is it?), the word "hora" means "time."

A response to the question "Cual es la hora?" may be "Es la una." (It is one o'clock.) Another response may be "Son las dos." (It is two o'clock.) You will note that the verb "es" is used when the time is one o'clock and the verb "son" is used when the time is two o'clock.

When identifying time in Spanish, the verb "son" is used for all hours except one o'clock. Thus we must say "Son las tres." (It is three o'clock.) or "Son las cuatro." (It is four o'clock.) But when we want to say "It is one o'clock," we must use the expression "es" and say "Es la una."

We may also say "Son las dos y media." (It is two thirty.), or "Son las tres y media." (It is three thirty.). In these phrases the words "y media" (and half) are used like the English phrase "half past." Thus to say "It is half past four o'clock," we simply say "Son las cuatro y media."

The phrases below are used in asking about or telling time. You may practice saying them with the automatic record which says them for you

G. Ray Graham, For Newspaper Pioneer, Relives Life on Eve Of 'Review' Birthday

The Lemon Grove Review is celebrating its 15th birthday as a community newspaper this issue and one of its earliest owners and publishers joyfully reminded its beginning.

G. Ray Graham, an 80 year old newspaper pioneer, who just retired from the printing business last year, took time out the other day to relate some of the journalistic events of his career and tell of the early days of the Lemon Grove newspaper.

Graham began an eventful career in the newspaper business at the ripe business age of nine, when he began working in a print shop in Odebolt, Iowa. Before his publishing career was shortened by an operation, Graham had personally published five newspapers.

At the grown-up age of 12, he was publishing his first weekly newspaper, the U. S. News, in the kitchen of his mother's home. With business going well, Graham expanded his operation, changing from a primitive proof plainer printing system to his own small press. He also changed the name of the paper to the Odebolt Record and began competition with the Odebolt Chronicle.

Graham related an ironic story about the naming of his first weekly publication. "I heard that the Chronicle was discarding some old type one day, so I went over and picked up what I thought I could use myself. I found an old masthead from the Chicago Record and cut off the Record and used it as the name of my paper."

Graham's first venture in the newspaper business lasted for 10 years. He then became owner and publisher of the Odebolt Record, which was his next project, with Graham publishing that weekly from 1919 to 1926.

From 1930 through 1945, Graham controlled the Rosemead Review in the town of Rosemead, California. He then came to San Diego in 1948 and the following year became owner of the Lemon Grove Review.

"The Review had been established in August, 1948, by Brent Payne," said Graham. Then a man named John Pletschet owned the Review for a couple of months and I bought it from him in June of 1949."

The original newspaper headquarters for the Review was a concrete block building with no front that is now the site of Pernicano's Pizza house on Broadway and Imperial. Eventually a front was added and the building became a dress shop.

Graham continued as publisher of the Review until 1952 when a head operation forced the life-long journalist to sell the paper to its present owner and publisher, Max Goodwin.

But the courageous pioneer couldn't stay away from the printing business, which had consumed his entire life, and he returned to work a linotype machine for the Prayest Commercial Print Shop from 1954 until his belated retirement in 1966.

Now retired at his residence at 5712 Roosevelt, Lemon Grove, Graham is still surrounded by the element which was his life's obsession, the newspaper. He has a collection of many of his old publications, along with other almanacs which relate the history of the printing business, a business to which he added so much.

LIVING LEGEND: G. Ray Graham, pioneer publisher of weekly newspapers and former owner of the Lemon Grove Review, relives through collection of memorable newspapers which depict his life as a printer. Graham, 80 years old and retired since last year, now resides at 8712 Roosevelt st., Lemon Grove.

District 31 Kiwanis members have scheduled their annual picnic at Pine Valley, Calif. (east on Highway 80), for Sunday, Aug. 13, according to Lt. Governor Vischer "Vic" Root of the Lake Murray Kiwanis Club.

The nine Kiwanis clubs within District 31 will meet that day for the gala event. The feature event of the day will be the election of a Lt. Governor-Designate. There are two candidates; Frank Berger of the Spring Valley club and Paul Clay of the Alpine club.

The day's schedule is: games for children from 10:30 a.m. to 12 noon. Following the games the picnic will be held. Each family is to bring its own picnic lunch. Coffee, punch and ice cream will be provided.

The Spring Valley Kiwanis Club meeting for breakfast July 12, presented Dr. Lowell Smith M. D. of El Cajon, as the guest speaker. The doctor told of the vast improvements in air conditioning in the operating rooms of hospitals to keep down infections. His talk was enhanced with slides, showing the decrease of infection over the past few years.

Dr. Smith said the method of air purifying in the operating rooms can be a big boon to factories and offices; for if they are installed in these places colds and illnesses can be cut to a minimum.

She said many persons who were opposed to the plan have had a change of heart.

Thrift Shops Aid Welfare Program
The two "Thrift" shops of the Spring Valley Community Welfare Inc.; Shop No. 1 on Memory lane, and Shop No. 2 on Gillespie st., South Spring Valley, are in the midst of some summer sales this week.

Ladies and girls dresses are being sold for ten cents. Next week more dresses will be on sale, along with men's trousers for ten cents and men's coats for, not over 25 cents.

During the month of August the two Thrift shops will be having different clothing sales each week, says Mrs. Thelma Lewis, needy family chairman, Mrs. Agnes Watkins is shop chairman.

Sale of clothing and other goods by the Thrift shops is one of the means the Welfare has of raising money to help the needy families in the Spring Valley area.

Heart Assn. Heads Info Prevention San Diego Cystic

The physician-founded American Heart Association is moving into the area of heart disease prevention, according to its national school health director.

He is Dr. Kenneth Briney. He spoke Tuesday night at the first 1967-68 director meeting of the San Diego County Heart Association.

The trend, he said, is to identify "high risk" people and to encourage better health habits for the general public.

"Convincing people emotionally and intellectually to change their behavior patterns, when there is no real sign of danger later on, is a tough job," Dr. Briney said. The AHA's educational "Risk Reduction" program is a preventive move to tell people of the heart disease "risk factors" and urge them to avoid the risks.

The Reduced Risk program's first emphasis is against smoking because that risk factor is best documented, he said.

The 1964 Surgeon General report linking cigarettes to lung cancer and heart disease has been substantiated by a recent report based on 3,000 additional studies, he said.

Monday, July 31, is the deadline date for filing a contribution return and report of agricultural wages for the second quarter of 1967, Hagen Christensen, Auditor in Charge for the State Department of Employment in San Diego reminded employers of agricultural workers.

MAIL BAG

Dear Editor:

A group of citizens of Spring Valley and the surrounding areas, concerned about the growing juvenile problem, has joined together to try to make an intelligent appraisal of the situation and attempt to determine what steps can and should be taken to correct it.

There are many groups in existence concerned with youth and its problems in our society today, but this is the first time, to my knowledge, that a committee has been formed to examine the total situation; what is wrong; what youth organizations are there and what are their contributions; what service organizations have a youth program; what are our juvenile courts like and how do they work; are our juvenile laws up to date and appropriate to life in today's society? These and other questions raised in general meeting are being investigated and reported on by special subcommittees.

I do not need to remind you that this is a problem that concerns us all — parents or not — as one-half the population in the United States today is made up of persons under twenty-five years of age. As chairman of the Communications Committee, I would like to extend an invitation to you and your readers from our president, Fire Chief Frank Berger, of the Spring Valley Fire Department, to attend our meetings. Everyone's help is needed in this very serious matter, and your ideas will be welcomed.

Our next meeting will be July 25 at 8 p.m. at the Spring Valley Junior High School on Conrad Dr. If you have any questions before this meeting, please call Chief Berger at 463-0209.

We urgently need your participation!

Respectively yours,
C. E. Pennick, chairman
